Leaves Winter Alone

Apillow «

After successfully leading Below The Sea through 3 full-length albums on Where Are My Records and several tours around the world (Europe, Japan, Canada, USA), Patrick Lacharité finally releases a disc of his very own solo work.

Leaves Winter Alone «

Apillow has released two separate songs on two Emoragei/Where Are My Records compilations "Je l'ai fait pour toi" and "Under The Snow".

On his first official release, "Leaves Winter Alone", Apillow carves and crafts four tracks out of the glacial silence, tinkers on an old lonely piano, gently scratches his guitar and processes it through airy effects and mixes it all up with computer-generated percussions to create imaginative and complex build-ups within the minimalism realm.

Much like those of Below The Sea, Apillow's compositions have these very cinematic and melancholic qualities to them, while being light, sunny and upbeat.

This could be your perfect soundtrack for the current autumnal season and you'd wish it'd never ends.
